

PERDITION TEMPLE is another, genial project with collaboration of Gene Palubicki, the guy who has also participated in a number of other death metal bands such as ANGELCORPSE, IMPIETY, BLASPHEMIC CRUELTY or APOCALYPSE COMMAND.

“The Tempter's Victorious” has been performed with a lot of passion and dexterity. Rarely can one come across such a death metal piece of art that brings so much energy with it, right. This material just reeks of Hell itself, and this is damn impressive. Ok, we had to wait 5 years for the follower of “Edict of the Antichrist Elect”. No waste of time, it goes without saying, as “The Tempter's Victorious” is definitely the most mature album so far. At the same time, this stuff is still damn Infernal. Fuck, Devil himself has marked this stuff – oh yeah! This stuff is highly technical, no doubt, yet you can smell some putrid stench of the Hell’s excrement pit.

Very intense music this album consists of, fast played and twisted songs with fucking powerful solos are simply pure fucking destruction. You can hear, here and there, some distant echoes of MORBID ANGEL – but in case of this band, these influences are not as obvious as they are in other projects of this guy. PERDITION TEMPLE is a compact war machine which destroys everything that stands in its way. Very intensely played death metal with a huge dose of master-like lightness destroys everything and does it really well. I am pretty sure many of you’ll fall in love with this uncompromising music. LWS.
