

This time this band comes with two destructive (as usual) tracks. The title track „The Axecuter” kills and destroys a listener and tell us very clearly and distinctly who`s the boss. The B side destroys totally, really. AXECUTER takes no prisoners. „Ritual of Decibels” is a punch which`d render even a real bad ass unconscious. This damn groovy track just fucking knocks you down. All is well and good but why, for fuck`s sake, there is only two tracks on this ep? After so little a dose, one wants more and more. Well, let`s flip this vinyl again and devastate again. All right, my neighbours are going to get annoyed with me tonight as this stuff must be played at high volume. Hey Cristiano, you can't even understand how happy you've made me when you sent me these eps. Thanks a lot, my friend.
