

Four strikes of heavy/speed devastation here. Hellraiser inspired introduction is fired first. Heavy Metal is second and damn, this track is undeniably aggressive.

BLACK HOST

`s music is pure speed/thrash with plenty of influences right from hell.

Torment in Fire

is another awesome cut. No time for a breather here, ya hear me. It all fucking rushes forward, with sparky solos.

Lethal Virus

is third. It's pure thrash metal with nice choirs. The final track

Axe of the Damned

just gives off energy. No time to take a deeper breath. These guys like speed and this is good, isn't it? And you know, this old school vibe is ok with me. The only disadvantage of this stuff is cuts could be longer but, lo and behold, we can enjoy same programme on both sides. This tape is strictly limited to 66 copies. If you fail to get it, please email the band instead.

blackhosts666@gmail.com

or facebook.com/blackhosts666.

NecronosferatuS