

This split tape release is what I call pure evilness. Yes, it is suffused with a purely devilish atmosphere, it pulsates with summoned, darkest forces.... this is the sonic manifestation of the homage paid to the Infernal Lord of Hell.

The HELL`S CORONATION side is a devilish diatribe. "Diabolical Venom" is an awesome song – it is truly evil to the bone. This is so filthy and obscure; the atmosphere is growing along with the keyboards which build up a very mystical aura. A definitely alluring track, it is hard to stop listening to it.

The HOWL`s side features two songs: "Seven Whorish Mothers" and "Bloody Pact". Compared to the previous band, DEAD DOG`S HOWL`s music is more energetic yet still full of somber atmosphere. These two tracks take you to the very bottom of the infinite hell, so full of tormented yearn for the world of the living. Pain is blended with sorrow...the sound is totally unearthly, rough as fuck and stuff.

The tape is fairly short but affects your subconsciousness really wickedly. This split has something unique that affects your brain and thus it becomes not possible to release yourself from its cursed spell. You just need to keep listen to it again and again.
